MEMBERSHIP TYPE

- Individual Person with completed academic training and scientifically engaged in genetic engineering issues
- annual membership contribution: € 150.00
- Legal entity or any other affiliation of persons who act in the field of synthetic biology
- one-off admission fee: € 1,000.00
- annual membership contribution: € 500.00

I am aware of the fact that in case of existence of the preceding second alternative ("legal entity or any other affiliation of persons") the payment of the admission fee is a condition for the effectiveness of the admission and that enterprises which become a member shall, before acquiring membership, sign a declaration in which the member shall undertake to comply with the stipulations under the anti-trust law on cartels when working for the Association. The full membership contribution for the full financial year is also payable if a member does join the Association in the course of the year.

APPLICATION AND DECLARATIONS

I hereby apply for the membership in the IASB International Association Synthetic Biology e. V. (hereinafter also referred to as "Association"). I know the statutes of the association and hereby approve these statutes. I assure the correctness of the aforesaid statements and undertake to inform the Association about any changes to these statements. Furthermore I agree that my statements are used for the statutory duties and responsibilities of the Association and its facilities.
